L-39 Albatross fighter jets are famous for extreme maneuverability and flight experience. They have more power than any other piston engine aircraft and are a great aircraft to take Joy ride in. These jets are still used as training aircrafts for pilots of larger aircraft like Mig and Sukhoy because of its agility and versatility.

They are one of the smallest and least expensive jets available. They have straight wings and thus can perform aerobatics maneuvers and push up to +8 / -4 G. Even though it doesn't go supersonic, it's a great value for money and a thrill that's unforgettable. You will experience all types of dog fighting maneuvers like combat turns, loops, rolls, inverted flights, extreme low passes etc. Pilots may even let you fly or perform a maneuver or two in middle of the program as per his discretion.
